

NCL Graphic Specialties, Inc. Purchases Wide Web Mark Andy LB3000 Flexographic Press

NCL is expanding its product line to include primary flexographic packaging. "Our customers have asked us for this service and we are responding to their needs," said Richard Mueller, Chairman.

As a result, the company has purchased a wide web Mark Andy LB3000 flexographic press that will be installed into NCL's new production facility in July 2011. NCL has a long history of responding to customer needs and the new line broadens the primary packaging products NCL currently manufactures for many of its Fortune 500 clients

Established nearly 50 years ago, NCL is a supplier to some of the largest consumer product goods and promotional entities in the country. The company produces cut and stack paper labels, in-pack, on-pack and near-pack marketing items, games, sweepstakes, overwrap coupons and specialized promotional materials. NCL also provides promotional game security, game administration, warehousing, and shipping.

The new facility is located in Menomonee Falls, WI. The company currently employs approximately 230 employees.
